

OAKPARK PROJECT SHOWCASE Oakville, Ontario

In Canada, Metrontario has been responsible for the development of several thousand acres of land as well as the construction of thousands of residential units, including detached homes, townhouses and high-rise condominiums. It has operated both on its own and in joint ventures with some of Canada's most reputable and successful builders.

A major project presently in progress is the development of OakPark, a community in Oakville, Ontario, 19 miles (31 kilometres) west of Toronto. This development commenced in 1997 and its master plan is designed along the principles of "new urbanism".

OAKPARK PROJECT SHOWCASE Oakville, Ontario

Once fully completed, it is estimated that OakPark will house some 10,000 residents, offer employment opportunities for 10,000 people, and will feature 27 acres (11 hectares) of parkland in a project comprising over 1.5 million square feet (139,500 square metres) of residential, retail, commercial office and institutional uses. The cost of OakPark's construction is estimated to exceed C $1 Billion over the life of the project.

